Understanding Emotional Regulation • April 8th, 2025 at 5:30pm

Explore how emotions develop in the teen brain and why emotional ups and downs are a normal part of this stage. You'll walk away with tools to help your teen recognize, and regulate big emotions in healthy ways.

Managing Anger & Aggression • April 22nd, 2025 at 5:30pm

Learn how to model and reinforce self-regulation, set and maintain boundaries, and use co-regulation techniques to support your teen through moments of frustration or outbursts.

Navigating Grief & Loss • May 6th, 2025 at 5:30pm

Whether it's the loss of a loved one, a friendship, or a major life transition, grief can take many forms. Explore and learn tools to help your teen express and process their grief, build resilience, and develop coping strategies.

As kids grow into teens, their emotions become more complex - and so do the strategies we need to support them.

Enjoy dinner, connect with other parents and caregivers, and gain valuable insights into supporting your teen's emotional well-being guided by Kailey Semen, Registered Provisional Psychologist.
